Here's a gift from your friends at Crowden—
keep exploring the joys of instrumental music!

Strings Family

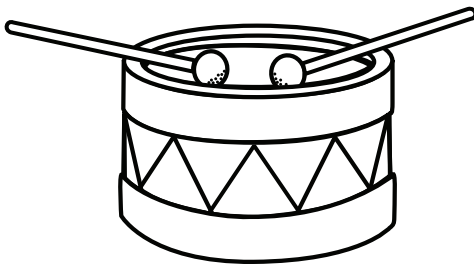

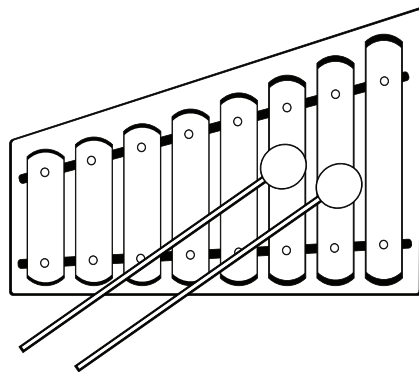

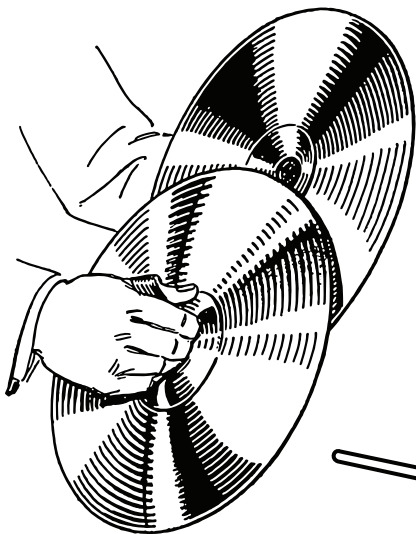

Instruments in this family make sound by vibrating strings. You can bow, pluck, or strike strings to make sounds!

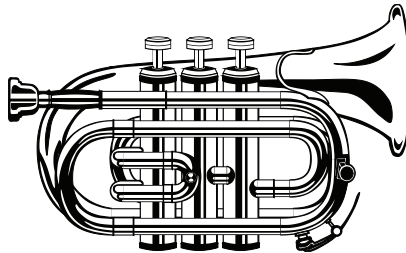

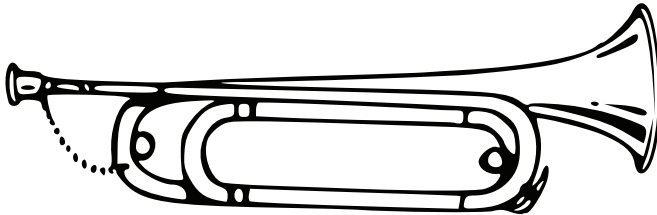

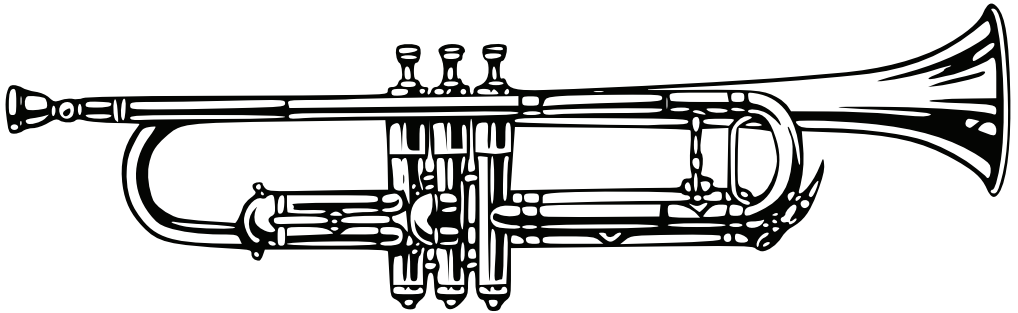

Percussion Family

Strike, scrape, rub, or bang on instruments in the percussion family to make sounds. Some percussion instruments make sounds pitched to a note (so you can hum along). Some make unpitched sounds—crashes and bangs!

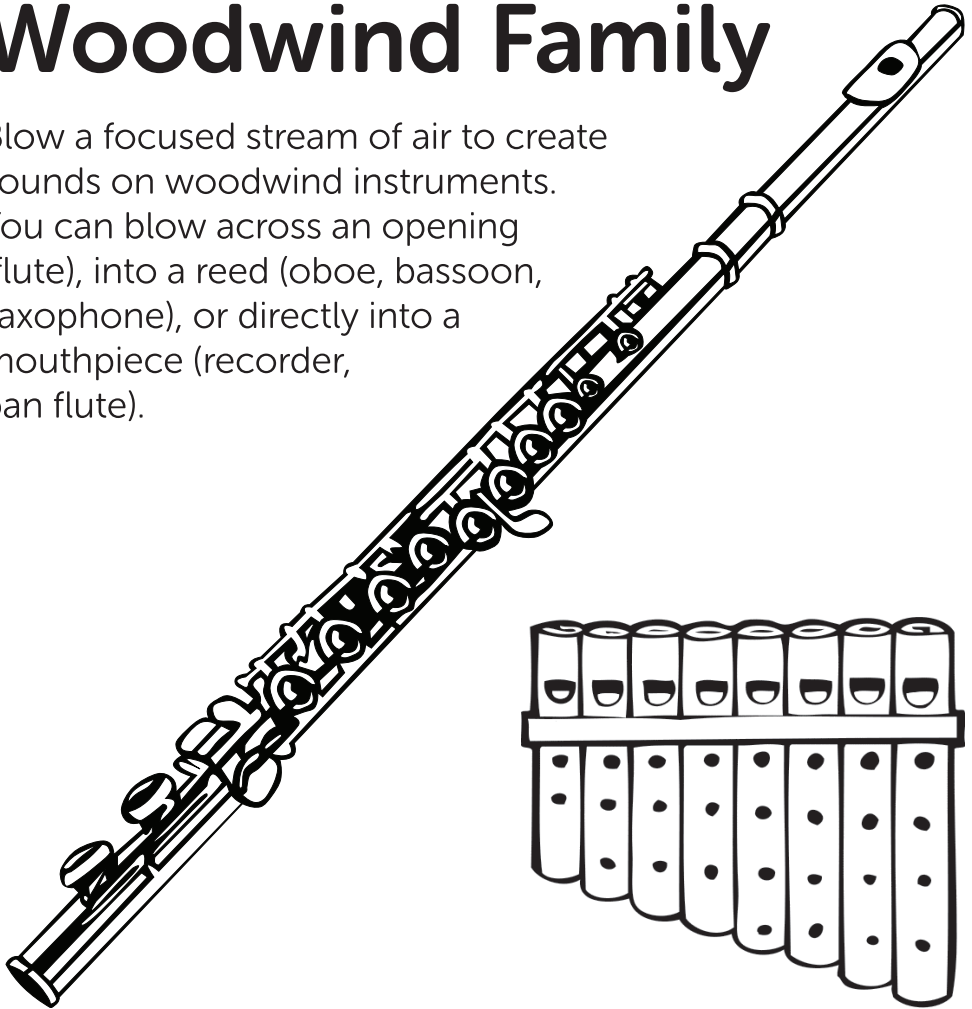

Brass Family

A combination of buzzing your lips and breathing makes this loud family of instruments play sounds.

Woodwind Family

Blow a focused stream of air to create sounds on woodwind instruments. You can blow across an opening (flute), into a reed (oboe, bassoon, saxophone), or directly into a mouthpiece (recorder, pan flute).

Keyboards

Instruments in the keyboard family share one thing in common: all are played using a keyboard. This large family includes some instruments that utilize strings to make sounds (piano, harpsichord) and some that use air (organ, accordion).
